If a participant is considering exhibiting their quilt in Arts In Bloom 2019 at the Steffen Thomas Museum of Art, then the Steffen Thomas art that is selected must come from printouts provided or pictures taken at the Museum. If a piece of ST art is chosen from the internet or website, there is no guarantee that the Museum has that piece on-site for display with the finished quilt for Arts In Bloom. If a piece of ST art is chosen from the internet or website, the quilter must send the image to Patricia DuBose at STMA (patricia@steffenthomas.org) for approval.

Art quilts should be turned in to Kay Dejno or Kay Spors by March 5, 2019.

There will be a signup sheet at the June Guild Meeting for the workshop. There is no charge for this workshop; it's a freebie for Lake Oconee Quilt Guild Members!

On the day of the workshop, bring pictures of the art piece you have selected and fabrics you want to use in the art piece, cutting tools, sharpies, and light box if you have one. It is also helpful if you have an enlargement of the picture made to the size you want to make your piece. We will not sew that day, just exchange ideas on how to proceed with the project. There may even be some swapping of fabrics! Also bring some embellishments you think might work with your piece. Kay Dejno and Kay Spors will facilitate the workshop and help with ideas. If you have a small iron, that would be helpful, but not everyone needs to bring one; we can share. Bring your lunch. It should be a fun day!
